NEW SEARCH UNDER WAY FOR BOYS

More Than 1000 Men Start From San Bernardino to Find Missing Lads

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Mar. 29. — Launching the greatest search ever conducted in Southern California, more than 1,000 men assembled at the city hall here today and started on a new and systematic hunt for little "Dickey" Jensen, 6, and his younger playmate, Dean Meecham, 4, missing San Bernardino boys, who have been lost since last Saturday.

Responding to a general call broadcasted throughout the city and surrounding country by Mayor S. W. McNabb of San Bernardino, farmers left their fields, business men their desks, bankers their private offices and troops of boy scouts in uniform turned out to join in the mammoth hunt for the youngsters.

Big Search Under Way

Before starting on the hunt today the posse was addressed by Mayor McNabb, who exhorted the members of the organization to extend their greatest efforts in what is regarded as the critical period in the hunt for the boys.

Sheriff W. A. Shay and officers under his command then issued the necessary orders to the big group of men of which they had charge and the search was started.

Every foot of the country near here was to be gone over thoroughly. Every vacant house was to be inspected and every brush pile and old well were to be investigated.

Gloria Swanson Now In New Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—Gloria Swanson, motion picture luminary, was today the defendant in a divorce action filed by her husband, Herbert K. Somborn, president of the Film Equity corporation, who claims that in pursuit of her art Miss Swanson deserted her home. Somborn's action was based on the technical ground of desertion.

The actress, according to the complaint, when she reached the point where she had to make a decision whether she would pursue her art or live a domestic life, did not hesitate long and soon left Mr. Samborn, who claims that the actress "maliciously and wilfully" deserted him. Miss Swanson was also divorced from her first husband, Wallace Beery, in 1918, on the same grounds.

Singers Rehearse for Easter Sunrise Service

In anticipation of the sunrise Easter service in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, over fifty singers gathered last night at the Glendale Union high school for a song rehearsal, directed by Prof. J. B. Poulin of Los Angeles.

A. L. Baird, chairman of the Community Service, music committee, is greatly gratified over the response to his plea for singers, and predicts that a chorus of 100 voices will greet Easter Day at the service Sunday morning.

Will Render Cantata At Christian Church

An Easter cantata will be the Good Friday observance at the Central Christian church tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The service has been arranged by Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor, and Mrs. Edgar Lloyd Smith, musical director, and all Glendalians are invited.

"The Resurrection," by J. Lincoln Hall, is the cantata to be presented by a choir of twenty-two voices. Selections will be given by a quartet composed of Mrs. Charles Weidman, Mrs. Floyd Mercer, Gordon Mize and Harry Marple.

CLUB URGING MRS. TOLL'S ELECTION

Organization Supports Her Candidacy for Head of District Federation

Tuesday Afternoon club women are becoming more enthusiastic in their support of the candidacy of Mrs. Charles H. Toll of 1635 Kenneth road for president of the district federation, as the time for the annual convention at San Luis Obispo approaches, next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

At present there are seven members of the Tuesday Afternoon club who are to go north for the convention and undoubtedly by the week-end there will be others going either on the club special or by motor.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the club, will head the delegation. She will be accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice-president; Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, past president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, and also past president of the District Federation; Mrs. W. E. Evans, Mrs. H. D. Charlton, Mrs. E. D. Cleophas and Mrs. C. J. Gans.

Purchase of Tickets

An important announcement was made this morning by Mrs. Campbell to all club women going north on the Southern Pacific special, leaving Los Angeles at 8 o'clock Monday morning. Glendale club women will be able to buy their tickets and board the special at the Glendale Southern Pacific depot in southern Glendale.

An added bit of information given by Mrs. Campbell is that all women buying tickets should state that they are going to the convention and receive receipts, which will assure them of half fare on their return.

L. A. Lithograph Plant Suffers Heavy Loss

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—Fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, early today swept through the plant of the Union Lithograph Company in East Seventh street and did damage amounting to $300,000, according to company officials. The fire was discovered by a night watchman 15 minutes after he had inspected the building shortly after 4 o'clock. The watchman turned in the fire alarm and when the firefighting apparatus arrived, the entire interior of the building was ablaze.

A ripped screen over a locked window and marks on a window sill led the officials to believe the fire was caused by incendiaries. The fire is thought to have started in the bindery room of the plant.

Nantasket Beach Fire Damage Is $1,000,000

BOSTON, March 29.—About a mile of Nantasket Beach, a great summer resort for New England people, was laid waste last night and early today by the most disastrous fire in the history of the beach. About ninety houses were destroyed, seven persons injured and about 150 made homeless by the conflagration. Damage is estimated at $1,000,000. The flames were visible for miles and drew many spectators, despite the cold.

Carnarvon's Condition Critical, Announced

CAIRO, Egypt, March 29 —The condition of Lord Carnarvon, British explorer who discovered the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen, is critical, it was announced today. He is suffering from acute poisoning caused by the bite of an insect at Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb. The infection began in the face but has now extended downward past the shoulders and throat to the lungs.

Exchange Club Supports Purchase by Glendale of Water Lands and Airport

THE purchase of the municipal airport by the City Council was approved in a resolution passed yesterday noon in the Harriet Mae Tea Room, 201 East Harvard street, at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Exchange Club.

The subject was brought up by R. E. Johnston of 444 South San Fernando road, chairman of the club's civic committee and also a member of the civics committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

Three reasons for the adoption of the resolution were cited by Mr. Johnston as follows:

"First, we believe that it is well for the city to have more property in the water basin of the Los Angeles river as a safeguard for additional water supply.

"Second, we believe the property was purchased at a very low price and will rapidly increase in value, which will be a benefit to the citizens of Glendale.

Advertises City

"Third, we believe that the proposed airport will be a big advertising feature to the city of Glendale and that the financial returns of this and the leasing of ground for factory sites will make a considerable return to the city of Glendale, perhaps paying for the balance of the indebtedness on said property."

Motion for the adoption of the resolution was made by Mr. Johnston and seconded by W. C. Waring of 201 South Brand boulevard, who stated that it was a matter of civic importance.

Objection to vote on the question was made by W. B. Kelly of 106 West Colorado street on the grounds that the issue was purely political. He expressed an opinion that the club should not endorse such a resolution unless all of its members as individuals approved of it.

"I am not against the airport under certain conditions," he remarked, "but I would be against it under certain other conditions."

Aid to Mail Service

D. Ripley Jackson of 1800 South Brand boulevard, president of the club, called attention to the fact that the organization had already gone on record as being "a hundred per cent against annexation" and that it is understood that the injunction, which is tying up the airport in legal red tape, is the work of annexationists.

Postmaster Jackson stated that the establishment of the airport undoubtedly would mean that it would be made a terminal for the air mail service to Los Angeles.

"This is not a question of party lines, but a matter of civic interest," declared Mr. Johnston. "I am at a loss to understand why this has any more political aspect than any other civic matter."

Mr. Kelly replied that he had used the term "political" to apply to any subject which came to a vote in the community. He said that he did not see any object in antagonizing to the club those who are opposed to the establishment of the airport.

"I am strongly against the resolution," he remarked.

Would Help Glendale

"I feel just the opposite to Capt. Kelly," replied Dr. Warren Newton of 121 North Brand boulevard. "I feel that a club of this kind is organized just for the purpose of taking up matters of this kind. We are all interested in the advancement of Glendale as a whole and this is one thing that will help Glendale a great deal."

Fred E. Hoyt of 211 East Broadway spoke at this time, briefly, and as follows:

"My opinion is to indorse the resolution just as given. If we try to please everybody we will have a hard row to hoe."

City Manager W. H. Reeves was the dictator of the following letter to R. E. Johnston, which was used to introduce the subject:

"The land was purchased at $2,000 per acre and we think it is worth $3,000 per acre at the present time. Anyway, we can sell it at $2,500 per acre, cash.

"We think the establishment of this municipally owned airport, the only one of its kind at present in the west, will give Glendale a great deal of highy desirable advertising and publicity.

Patriotic Service

"We think from statements made to us by various army and navy officers, who have used the field, that we are doing a patriotic service to our country in acquiring this field at the present time on account of the fact that it affords a training port to reserve aviators for the United States service.

"As one naval officer stated to us, it costs the government $50,000 and two years of time to train an aviator at the present time. This indicates, of course, that there would be no chance to train men for this absolutely vital branch of service after war had once broken out."

C. D. Gulick Asks Fair Hearing On Bus Question

IN view of the public discussions arising from the transportation question in Glendale, the following communication, by C. D. Gulick, who has an application pending before the City Council for a bus line service, will, it is believed, prove of general interest:

Editor The Evening News:—I believe that I am entitled to a fair hearing before the citizens of Glendale and that it is certainly unfair for certain selfish individuals of Glendale, some of whom have financial interests and other motives for their activities in favor of Pacific Electric and for their activities against myself and the company which I have organized, to try, hear, condemn and hang, any citizen of this or any other city of the United States, without giving him an opportunity to be heard.

Godfrey Edwards of Edwards-Wildey Company, has several times publicly and privately attacked both myself and the company I have organized. I would like to ask why Mr. Edwards is so active on behalf of the Pacific Electric, and apparently equally as active in trying to destroy my organization, which has offered to give Glendale modern, economical and efficient transportation locally and between the city of Los Angeles and Glendale at reduced rates. Is it because Mr. Edwards is trying to procure the three passenger stations he has requested the Pacific Electric to install in the vicinity of his sub-divisions, or is it because he is on the payroll of the Pacific Electric, or because of some other hidden motive? Why was he allowed to appear before the Glendale Chamber of Commerce directors and make statements that are not true regarding myself and my company, when I was not even extended the courtesy of being invited, but evidently was tried, without hearing, upon false statements of Mr. Edwards?

Denies Long Wait

There positively is no fact to the statement of Mr. Edwards that C. D. Gulick, if granted the permits to operate locally or anywhere else, would have to wait and build a factory and then, after building the factory, wait to build the cars before they could be installed in service. As a matter of fact there are dozens of factories who have stage cars and busses for sale, and common sense ought to tell anyone that I would not, if granted the permits to operate as prayed for in my application to the city of Glendale, have time within ninety days to wait and build either a factory or cars.

Mr. Edwards has stated that the Pacific Motor Bus Company has no stability or finances back of it. Again he is far from the truth. The board of directors who have been elected are its officers, besides myself, are George Rissman, wealthy property and land owner, having flowing oil wells in Signal Hill district, Long Beach; Frank D. Treckle, a banker, far in excess of a millionaire, who probably could loan Mr. Edwards three times the amount of Mr. Edwards' present worth, without having made a dent in his pocketbook; Alex Mitchell, another director, who is well known to you, an honest, square shooter and a pioneer of Glendale; S. S. Gilhuly, who has been elected a director of this company, is also a well known man to Glendale.

Former Railroad Men

Both of the last named men have had a life time experience as railroaders and know full well what the citizens can expect to get from the promises of any railway company. Both of these gentlemen are valuable men to the Pacific Motor Bus Company, because of their vast knowledge of the transportation business. Mr. Gilhuly was in the general offices of the Santa Fe during the war, having charge of the entire movement of troops, and after the war received complimentary letters from the department of war, Washington, D. C., regarding his efficiency and the manner in which he carried on his work. Mr. Gilhuly is now a candidate for councilman of the city of Glendale.

The Pacific Motor Bus Company is not an operating company, but was organized as a manufacturing company, and, therefore, will not operate the cars in Glendale or elsewhere. The Glendale Motor Bus Company, when organized,

ACT AGAINST REDISTRICT MEASURE

Majority Members of State Assembly Committee Not For Reapportionment

Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—"Do not pass," was the 12-to-8 order handed Assemblyman Edwin Baker's reapportionment bill yesterday by the assembly committee on reapportionment.

The amendment that it do not pass was offered by Assemblyman William B. Hornblower of San Francisco, after an exciting scrap for strategic position, and was violently objected to by Assemblyman Harry Lyons of Los Angeles, after which some verbal fireworks broke loose and shot up in a pyrotechnic display of oratory.

Assemblyman Baker's bill was finally shoved on the floor after Assemblyman Bert Snyder of Chicago and Walter H. Duval of Ventura voted with Chairman Ekswand and southern members of the reapportionment committee to let the solons thresh out the question of doing their sworn constitutional duty.

Offers Amendments

During the hearing, Assemblyman Baker offered amendments showing the changes in assembly districts, Glendale being relieved of the Highland Park territory if the bill is varied.

It is probable numerous amendments will be offered during the battle. No prediction can be made as to how the assembly will vote, but the senate is said to be safely favoring San Francisco's policy of "no reapportionment, constitution or no constitution."

The bill provides that Los Angeles county gains two senators and six assemblymen on a population basis of redistricting.

Three-Fuourths Verdicts

By a vote of 28 to 11 the senate approved the constitutional amendment providing for three-fourths the jury verdicts in cases where the death penalty is not inflicted. This was after reconsideration had been granted opposing forces who claimed such procedure would upset a system 1100 years old

But it took Senator E. Burlingame Johnson of Psadena, formerly in the United States consulate service, to explode their argument. He pointed to the states of Louisiana and Idaho already employing the three-fourths jury decisions; also to India, Bahamas, Scotland and other countries convicting criminals by a majority vote of the judges or juries.

So the several lawyers, students of law, defenders of criminals, etc., who were furnishing "hot stuff" for the sob sisters and blubbering brothers found out they are only provincials and quite lacking in general knowledge.

Tripped and Trapped

This is not the first time a similar display of ignorance has nearly defeated legislation. And in the matter of state finances the politicians who would wreck Richardson's budget have found themselves tripped, trapped and buried alive in the grave they dug for some one else.

Secret societies in high schools were dealt a severe blow when the senate passed the Creighton bill prohibiting college fraternities or sororities from pledging students in the state's preparatory schools. It now goes to the assembly for action.

BERNHARDT GETS LAST TRIBUTE

Utmost Simplicity Marks Funeral Services for Famous Actress

By FRANK E. MASON
For International News Service

PARIS, March 29.—Funeral services were conducted today for Sarah Bernhardt with the utmost simplicity. The ceremony took place in the little church of St. Francis de Sales. There was no music, no mass and no sermon. Despite the announcement of the police that only intimate friends of the family would be admitted, scores tried to force their way through the police lines outside the church.

The street before the church had been roped off, but a traffic lane was left open and throughout the morning there was a continuous stream of motor cars and taxicabs driving up to the church to leave flowers. The largest floral tribute was a wreath of violets and carnations 12 feet square from the city of Paris.

Large Crowd Present

The weather was sunny and warm. This was partly responsible for the large crowds that swarmed into streets near the church, hoping, out of curiosity, to get a glimpse of the casket and to see the prominent persons who attended the church service.

It was estimated that there were from 8000 to 10,000 persons in the streets near the church and the Bernhardt home.

The church doors were hung with black, the crepe bearing the monogram of the famous actress. The entire interior of the building was in mourning.

Million See Cortege

The funeral cortege was more than half a mile long. Three cabinet members were in the procession.

The Paris Midi estimated that 40,000 persons from all parts of the world signed the mourning register in the hallway of Mme. Bernhardt's home.

The streets in the vicinity of her home and the church had not seen such activity since the armistice celebration. It was estimated than 1,000,000 persons saw the cortege.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS HEARS COMPLAINTS OF DELEGATES TO MEETING

Listen To Suggestions And Talk Over Plans For Furthering Of All Sections Of Glendale

By RALPH A. LYND
Of The Evening News Staff

DEMOCRATIZATION and a more confidential and sympathetic attitude toward its own members and the public in general are the main needs of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, according to the views expressed by the representatives of various civic organizations at the meeting called by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce in the auditorium of the Citizens' building last night, to consider the best means of bringing the Chamber of Commerce and the other organizations into closer harmony and to insure a greater spirit of co-operation.

The following organizations were represented at the meeting: City of Glendale, Mayor Spencer Robinson; Rotary club, Roy L. Kent; Kiwanis club, A. L. Ferguson; Exchange club, George A. Whitaker; Glendale Credit association, H. M. Butts and William Hooper; Glendale Realty Board, A. M. Yale and W. A. Horn; East Glendale Improvement association, C. W. Ingledue; West Glendale Improvement association, R. Streit; Foothill Improvement association, Alex Mitchell; Verdugo Woodlands Improvement association; John L. Bolen; San Fernando Improvement association, Wm. Griffin; Tuesday Afternoon club, Mrs. A. P. Findlay; Thursday Afternoon club, Dr. Jessie Russell; American Legion, Col. James W. Everington; Parent-Teachers federation, Mrs. E. B. Moore; Community Service, V. M. Hollister.

Like Clearing House

In his opening remarks President Jesse E. Smith of the Chamber of Commerce stated that the Chamber of Commerce should be a clearing house for the problems of the city and that it should be entrusted with the work of carrying on the work that is an inherent part of the growth and development of the municipality, working out the problems that confront Glendale, such as sewers, transportatiton, a new railroad station, highways, and other projects along similar lines. All of the local organizations, President Smith declared, have their own definite sphere of activity, but many of them enter the field that rightly belongs to the Chamber of Commerce, with the result that there is a duplication and, in many cases, a waste of effort.

This overlapping, he asserted, should be eliminated, and the Chamber of Commerce should be entrusted with the task of solving those problems that are most acute, and he urged that the various organizations that were represented at the meeting try to work with the Chamber of Commerce in a closer and more harmonious relation, directing their efforts to strengthen the position of the Chamber of Commerce and aiding it to solve the problems that are a part of the city's life, as a whole, rather than attempting to handle subjects that really are foreign, in many instances, to the aims for which the various associations have been formed.

Sewers Big Problem

President Smith declared that the biggest task before the Chamber of Commerce and the city at this time is that of sewers, and he stated that the committee that has been working with the city authorities for the past two years, is on the road to a definite success in securing the establishment of a sewer system that will be adequate for the increasing growth of Glendale, with the new buildings that are being erected here, with the prospect of the early building of a hotel and huge office buildings that will have to have the most modern facilities that a city of the progressive type of Glendale can have.

The question of dues in the Chamber of Commerce brought out many varied opinions, when Roy L. Kent, speaking as a member of the board of directors, sought to find out why so many members of the Chamber of Commerce are dropping their memberships in the organization. That there is an undercurrent of dissatisfaction with some aspects of the Chamber of Commerce work is evident, Mr. Kent declared, and he asked that the dissatisfied ones come out in the open, state their grievances and help to get them smoothed out, so that the Chamber of Commerce could work in harmony with the other agencies that are striving for the good of Glendale, as partners in advancing the interests of the municipality.

Looks Like Donation

The question of dues brought from A. M. Yale the statement that many people look on their membership fees as a donation, and he added that, as long as people held that view, it was going to be difficult to hold them, but, if they could be shown that they were deriving actual, concrete benefits from the Chamber of Commerce, the present dues of $25 a year would not be considered an obstacle to remaining in the organization. He asserted the main trouble was that so many people did not know what has been done or whether it has been done at all or not.

Rudolf Streit, representing the West Glendale Improvement Association, gave as his opinion that the Chamber of Comemrce owes much of the opposition that it encounters to the belief, firmly held in many quarters, that it is an autocratic body composed of big employers and representatives of large commercial interests, and that the little man, the individual taxpayer, is seldom encouraged to be a member or to take an active part in the direction of its affairs. The crying need is that the Chamber of Commerce should be organized on more democratic lines, he stated, and he asserted that the civics committee of the Chamber of Commerce was a much more sympathetic and democratic body than the parent organization. He urged that the RIVERSIDE, March 29.—Trapped by smoke and flames while asleep, three men were burned to death, two seriously injured and sixteen others narrowly escaped cremation today, when fire of unknown origin destroyed a bunkhouse at the Windsor camp of the Arlington Heights Fruit Co., near here.

Failing in a frantic attempt to rescue their companions, the men who escaped fought the fire and prevented its spreading to five nearby buildings.

The three men burned to death were: Thaddeus Barrow, 60, Santa Ana; H. W. Goff, 55, address unknown; R. P. Goff, his son, 30.

The injured: B. H. Abbott, so seriously burned about both hands that amputation may be necessary; J. Bunting, both legs injured by jumping to ground.

Launches Probe of Irrigation Projects

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Secretary of the Interior Work has ordered the inspection force of the department to proceed immediately upon a detailed investigation of reclamation and irrigation projects throughout the western states with a view to eliminating unnecessary expenses in their conduct. The investigations will begin with the Rio Grande project in New Mexico and Texas.

TUJUNGA REALTY IS MOVING FAST

Extension of Building on Olive Grove to Link Up Nearby Town

The tract of land located on the state highway at Tujunga and known as the Olive Grove is proving to be a fast seller. This tract has been subdivided by the California Home Extension association and over fifty lots were sold before the lot stakes could be placed. The tract belonged to Wright brothers of Riverside, and is considered one of the most valuable olive orchards in the state. This move forges another link in the solid chain of homes that will eventually connect Tujunga and Sunland.

An extensive street improvement program has been started. The county road department is following plans adopted by a special committee from the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce. The streets to be improved include Sunset boulevard, Summit avenue, Los Angeles street, Haines Canyon road and Olive street.

Earl C. Brunner, formerly of Glendale, has established a jewelry store in the Griffin-Cruikshank building on Sunset boulevard. Mr. Brunner was for some time associated with R. L. Cole of Glendale, and is an experienced jeweler and watchmaker.

Legion Gives Show

The vaudeville show staged by the Monte Vista Post of the American Legion was a success in every way, netting about $60. The program was made up entirely of home talent, and was very well presented. Post 250 is purchasing Bolton Hall and the returns from their entertainments go toward making payments. The program included a satirical skit on domestic life, "Devotion," Miss Crews, supported by A. J. Scribner, Jack Bloodgood and Miss Allardice. "A Goose Dinner," Wiggins children, was a juvenile sketch very well acted. Marzezlle Green presented a Gypsy dance that would compare favorably with any professional act. "A Summer Wooing" was another excellent dance number, by Miss Frances Morgan and Mrs. Blanche Johnson. Perhaps the headline attraction of the entire bill was an Irish sketch, 'St. Patrick's Day in China," by A. J. Scribner, Mrs. Scribner and Mr. Smith. L. H. Fisher did some very acceptable buck and wing dancing.

L. H. Perner, D. D. S., has opened dental parlors on Michigan avenue. He formerly divided his time between Tujunga and Los Angeles, but found that he could not serve his fast-growing list of patients at both places, and has chosen Tujunga as the more promising of the two locations.

Reorganizze Ball Team

The Tujunga Valley baseball team has been reorganized and will play under the Sunland banner in future. Louie Waite, last season's popular catcher and captain, has taken over the management and will organize a complete new line-up. While many changes are to be made, some of the faces familiar to valley fans will be seen at their old stations. Among them will be Ernie Furrer, Fred Terzo and "Dutch" Brandstatter. Terzo and Brandstatter were formerly Glendale High School students and have been fixtures on the team for some time.

P. Desjardin, proprietor of Desjardin's poultry ranch, is making extensive additions to his buildings, including a brooder house, that will double the present capacity. He is operating under the Weeks plan, and has found it very successful, and has just purchased 600 little chicks to augment his stock.

Elizabeth Benedict, one of the original Little Landers to embark in the poultry business, has also added 600 chicks to her already large stock.

Messrs. Spark McCluskey and J. B. Dewar of Glendale gave a stag dinner at Jane's Grill Wednesday evening in celebration of their twenty-fifth birthday anniversaries. It is a remarkable coincidence that they are the same age and their birthdays fall on the same date. Mr. Dewar is a native of Lanarkshire, Scotland, and Mr. McCluskey hails from County Antrim, Ireland. They had as guests Arthur G. Roseman and Dayton Houck of Los Angeles, Sam Merriken of Glendale and F. A. Graham of Tujunga.

W. A. HORN GIVES OUT STATEMENT

Candidate for Councilman Promises to Help Solve Sewer, Tax Problems

W. A. Horn, candidate for one of the two vacancies on the City Council, asks The Evening News to publish the following:

To the People of Glendale: Having been solicited by friends to seek the position of councilman of our city, I finally decided to allow my name to be put on the ballot.

This is my first venture into the political arena as an office holder. My thirty and more years of financial and business life have always been very active and strenuous. Have contented myself with taking a keen interest in all local, state and national life, and always using my right of citizenship at the ballot box, but never felt that I had time to take a public office.

I have lived in our wonderful state of California for seventeen years, and have traveled through nearly all of its towns and counties, and watched its phenomenal growth, therefore, I feel that I realize somewhat the problems which come with this rapid increase of population, and the great service and sacrifice men whom we have elected to public office have given and must give to solve them.

I feel that there are now before the citizens of Glendale tremendous problems, and paramount amongst them are these two, namely, the sewer question and the tax rate, and if we are to continue our growth into a large and progressive city, these two must be solved at once.

I therefore, pledge my best efforts in the solution of these grave problems and the many minor ones, if the citizens of our fair city decide to elect me to a position on the City Council, and to serve the best interest of All Glendale, east, west, north, south, Glendale.

Sincerely yours,
W. A. HORN.

Jeter's Cartoons Are Feature of Revival

Crowds are increasing at the Jerry Jeter evangelistic meetings, being held in the big tabernacle at the corner of Broadway and Cedar street.

The announcement that Mr. Hollingshead was to play for the meetings attracted many to the service last night, as did also Evangelist Jeter's cartooning.

His subject was "Preach the Word." He is to cartoon again tonight.

Mrs. Jeter is speaking every afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

OUTLINES PLANS FOR TRACT SALE

Subdivider Enlists Aid of Realtors in Selling Sanitarium Site

The plans that have been formed for the sale of the site of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital on East Broadway were explained to the members of the Glendale Realty Board at their weekly luncheon in the C. & S Cafeteria yesterday by Guy M. Rush, head of the Guy M. Rush Company, which has secured the contract to subdivide and dispose of the property.

Mr. Rush stated that he had made a careful investigation of the business zone of Glendale before he had agreed to accept the sale of the property and had struck an average of prices obtaining in that part of town, and he declared that he has priced the property lower than the average of the adjacent property. He explained the terms on which the property is to be sold and asked for the co-operation of the Glendale realtors, telling them that he and his company had kept three points in mind in pricing the property: to make the prices, the terms and the interest rates attractive to the buyers.

The corner at Isabel and Broadway has been sold to H. H. Cotton and Charles Andrews, two Los Angeles real estate operators, while the corner of Jackson and Broadway has been taken by Walter Leimert, the subdivider of the Bellehurst tract, north of town.

Councilman C. E. Kimlin outlined plans for the new sanitarium that is being built and predicted that, within a very short time, the capacity of the plant would have to be doubled.

Elks O. K. Bond Issue

C. D. Thom, president of the Glendale Realty Board, announced that the Elks lodge, with about 600 members present, had endorsed the bond issue for the purchase of the Glendale airport site, and he added that six airplanes will be here two days before the election on April 10 to distribute thousands of handbills from the sky, urging the support of the bond by the voters of Glendale. The aviator who has been writing advertisements for a popular brand of tobacco in the sky around the city recently has also been engaged to write a message in the air in support of the bond issue, and speakers will address the audiences in the theatres in a series of four-minute talks between now and election day. Stickers for automobiles will also be distributed and advertisements will be carried in the newspapers setting forth the advantages to Glendale of securing the airport site.

A communication from the Pasadena Realty Board was read, stating that 1924 will be the fiftieth anniversary of that city's foundation, and it is desired to mark the anniversary by entertaining, among many other conventions, that of the California Real Estate association. The letter asked that the Glendale Realty Boad support Pasadena's candidacy for the honor of being chosen the convention city, and the local board agreed unanimously to accede to the request.

Now Free of Debt

The board was advised by E. G. Lewis, the publisher of the Illustrated Review, and owner of several oil properties, that the shares in the oil wells that were subscribed by the Glendale Realty Board would have to be held in the name of an individual, as it was against the rules to place the shares in the name of any organization. The board unanimously decided to instruct the Lewis interests to place the shares in the name of C. D. Thom, to be held in trust for the Glendale Realty Board.

President Thom also reported that the board is now free of debt, due largely to the receipts from the multiple listing sales that have been made by the members of the organization.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CHURCH HELD

Presbyterian Reports Show Congregation to Be in Sound Shape

The annual congregational business meeting of the Glendale Presbyterian church was held at the church last evening. The meeting was largely attended and was a most enthusiastic gathering. Reports were heard from the officers of all organizations and in all these only the optimistic found expression. This is the twelfth year of the pastorate of Rev. Walter E. Edmonds and he stated that this is the best annual meeting during all that period.

This is probably the last meeting to be held in the present church edifice and the entire congregation are looking forward most enthusiastically to taking up the work in the new building at Louise and Harvard streets which will be completed during the coming year.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds was chosen as presiding officer last evening and Miss Louise M. Guenther as clerk. All reports showed numerical and financial gain. The Sunday school, which labors under most cramping and inadequate equipment, shows a total enrollment of 1109, including the Cradle Roll and Home Departments. The membership of the church shows a net gain of 211 over last year with the total nearing the 1200 mark. The current expense totaled over $15,000 and benevolence more than $10,000. The congregation has now assumed full support of Miss Jennie Horsch, a Glendale girl who is a missionary among the Mexicans. The entire amount raised locally, exclusive of new building fund, was over $30,000.

Officers Chosen

The following officers were chosen for the coming year: Trustees: T. W. Preston, J. M. Fife, W. S. Perrin, C. E. Boss, J. B. McClellan and Al L. Baird. Deacons: W. E. McCormick, S. A. Forrester, R. T. Lyans, J. K. Gilkerson, F. A. Buck, F. G. Taylor and John Swearngin. Elders: W. J. Clendenin, G. G. Lemon, J. A. Newton, H. L. Brown, R. C. Kelley, D. R. Boyd, David Black, A. B. Clapp and Asa Hall.

The executive secretary of the new building, Geo. D. McDill, made an extended report of the finances and progress of the new building. Brief talks were made by Rev. Edmonds and Rev. Tinning. When the meeting closed many expressions of satisfaction were heard with reference to past progress and the promising outlook for the coming months.

COMMITTEE ASKS P. E. FARE SLASH

Second Conference Planned To Discuss Lowering of Los Angeles Rates

The committee representing the Glendale Chamber of Commerce that met yesterday with D. W. Pontius, vice president and general manager of the Pacific Electric, and O. A. Smith, passenger traffic manager of the system, to discuss the question of lower fares between Glendale and Los Angeles, reported on their return that no definite decision had been reached at yesterday's meeting, but that the way has been left open for further discussion of the matter by the request of the Pacific Electric officials that the committee meet with them at an early date to go more fully into the details of the subject.

Committee's Contention

It was contended by the committee that the present rate of 38 cents round trip to Los Angeles is too high and they asked that it be reduced to 25 cents. The case of Hollywood was cited as having lower rates than Glendale, but as an offset to this the officials pointed out that Hollywood does not have the express service that this city has, and the Pacific Electric representatives also laid emphasis on the fact that more trains are to be added to the Glendale service by April 1.

The committee stuck to its point that the fares be reduced, and the coming conference is expected to develop some definite course on the part of the railway company in the matter. It is stated that, while the State Railroad Commission must authorize any advance in rates, the Pacific Electric can reduce rates without any official sanction, and this leads to the hope that some cut in rates between Glendale and Los Angeles may be made without a lengthy legal discussion of the points involved.

Announcement

Tuesday, April 3rd, 8:30 A.M.

233 South Brand Blvd.

The purpose of our Organization is to assist the 10,000 wage earners, salaried people and others of Glendale and vicinity to properly finance themselves.

UNTIL A FEW YEARS AGO PERSONS IN THE UNITED STATES WITHOUT PROPERTY or gilt edge collateral, regardless of how good their character or how great their earning ability, had no credit in a business sense. If credit was extended to them it was given as a personal favor. They could cast their ballot and contribute their portion of tax levies, but they could not borrow a dollar without paying the Loan Shark's ruinous rate of interest or applying to some charitable loan agency.

THE PEOPLE'S FINANCE AND THRIFT COMPANY OF GLENDALE was created to meet the demands of these people. The company is officered and managed by some of Glendale's best business men and financiers. They will confine their efforts to the financing of the wage earners, salaried people and others of Glendale in sums of from $25 upwards, at 6 per cent plus a nominal fee for investigations and clerical service. Re-payments may be made in small weekly, semi-monthly or monthly payments to suit the borrower.

LOANS WILL BE MADE ON THE BASIS OF CHARACTER AND EARNING ABILITY. No assignments of wages nor pledges are demanded. No publicity or unnecessary delays.

IF YOU'RE HONEST AND NEED MONEY FOR ESSENTIAL PURPOSES, a call at our institution will solve your problem for you. You will be placed on the same financial basis that the business man enjoys through his banking connections, and can borrow the money you need at a reasonable rate of interest.

IF YOU DO NOT NEED TO BORROW, MAKE YOUR MONEY WORK FOR YOU. Our Investment Certificates are SAFE and are redeemable in CASH. They pay you 6 per cent for your idle money. They may be purchased either for cash or on the installment plan. Interest payable semi-annually. Come in and let us explain this feature to you.

MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS WAS LOANED TO WAGE EARNERS in the United States by similar institutions during the year 1922, with a loss ratio of less than one-tenth of one per cent. This firmly establishes the fact THAT "CHARACTER PLUS EARNING ABILITY IS A PROPER BASIS OF CREDIT."

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED TO CALL AS A PATRON OR A GUEST. Further information cheerfully furnished upon application.

It's the Man Who Is Careful of His Personal Appearance Who Gets There

THE man with the baggy trousers, dusty shoes, greasy vest, long hair and unshaven face doesn't cut much ice these days. He's a back number. He doesn't know the first principles of the art of living. It is true the clothes do not make the man, but the successful man today is always careful of his personal appearance just as the "weary willy" (the type of indifferent failure) is always pictured as unkempt and unclean. It's the man who visits his barber daily and takes advantage of all the modern barber can do to turn out a man who looks 100 per cent well-groomed and feels 100 per cent fit, that's the successful man today. These little "touches" pay in the end in that feeling of fitness and in the respect that is always paid to the man who looks his best.

The modern successful man wears clothes that are made to fit, he patronizes his cleaner every week, he visits his barber and has a "shine" daily. He always puts up a good front. And the knowledge that he looks his best gives him that self-assurance that every man needs to succeed in any undertaking.

Men, like women, owe it to themselves and their families to look as well as possible. Social popularity and business success are all but impossible to the man who neglects his personal appearance. A man with a clean, well-fitting suit, clean shoes and fresh from the hands of his barber can gain entry where a less careful man would not be admitted.

Your barber, your tailor, your cleaner and your "shine" artist" can do more to make you look and feel snappy than any goat gland surgeon. And don't you feel good when you know you are well-dressed and well groomed? The advertisers in the space below specialize in turning out fine looking, successful men.

MAYOR ROBINSON IN PLANE FLIGHT

City Executive Back Safe After Being Lured to Try Sky Trip

Mayor Spencer Robinson is reported to be considering changing his plans to go to heaven.

If going-to-heaven is anything like going up in an airplane, according to Mr. Robinson, he may change his itinerary—although he admits that he has been singing in churches so long that he might have to use forged passports to get into hades.

A plot recently was concocted to make Mayor Robinson a high flyer for a few minutes. He was induced to journey to the municipal airport to give his opinion upon a matter of civic importance. W. B. Kinner, who is building an airplane factory there, had his "airster" all primed up and ready to "shove-off."

Just to show the painlessness of a flight, City Manager W. H. Reeves hopped into the cockpit and was taken for a short excursion through the azure sky.

Meanwhile, Mayor Robinson had visions of being obliged to call a special meeting of the City Council for the express purpose of selecting another city manager.

Mayor Gets Aboard

Finally the bi-plane descended and before Mayor Robinson could make sufficient protest, he had been intrigued into climbing into the cockpit—rheumatism and all.

Up and up the plane went, Mayor Robinson all the while figuring that soon it would be going down, down—crash. He looked below. There spread beneath him was "The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Glendale, with its acres and acres of red and green roofs, glimmered in the California sunshine like a sparkling diamond in the hills. The scene was one of entrancing beauty. The city looked like a miniature model.

All of a sudden Mayor Robinson's conscience began to hurt him. He had just noticed all the dead end streets.

About the time that Mayor Robinson decided that there was no place like home, the plane swooped over the airport and he began to rejoice in the anticipation of a safe landing—despite all premonitions to the contrary.

The plane descended, down, down, to within a few feet—that is a few hundred feet of terra firma. The mayor was just about ready to jump out.

All of a sudden Mr. Kinner happened to think that the flight had been incomplete. The itinerary had not included a voyage over the Grand View district. With a jerk, he pulled the ascension lever towards him, the horizontal rudder took a diagonal slant and the plane started to ascend once more.

"Hollywood and Pasadena!" thought the mayor. "What's happened?"

Plane Keeps Going

Cautiously he peered over the sides of the cockpit expecting to see that one of the wings had dropped off. No, they were both in place. Then he reflected that the engine had probably run out of gasoline and that the plane would never get down again. However, it kept going.

Mayor Robinson had just begun to reconcile himself to Kismet when the plane hit an airpocket. Instantly it dropped like a bullet. The mayor gave up hope and wondered whether the newspaper reporters would attend the inquest. Just as the last shovelful of earth covered his grave, the plane struck a solid air strata and the engine wheezed a sigh of relief.

A ray of hope darted through the ozone. The airport was coming into sight once more. Nearer and nearer it came and higher and higher mounted Mayor Robinson's affections for Glendale.

With a bounce the wheels hit the ground and the plane glided over the field to a resting place at the side of its hangar.

Mayor Robinson needed no invitation to jump out. He admitted that "in all the world no trip like this."

Huge Morphine Stock From Opium Imports

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Approximately 34,000 pounds of crude opium are to be imported in the United States by June 30, for the legitimate manufacture of morphine under the agreement reached between federal narcotic authorities and drug manufacturers, it was learned officially.

As crude opium assays approximately 10 per cent morphine, it means that about 42,000 ounces of morphine will be made available to drug dealers and physicians by the end of the fiscal year.

COMMENT That's All

Give Up Booze Or Auto Improve Postal Service! Don't Be Unreasonable That New Comic 'Strip'

By Gil A. Cowan

RACING railroad trains is one of the most dangerous practices of motor car drivers. It has been done in the best of families, but the most recent fatalities at Pomona points out clearly that such speeding is unsafe.

The writer had an informal word with T. M. Wright at lunch hour regarding his dry enforcement act and his attitude on the subject.

"I am not such a 'long hair' as some people would believe," said this San Jose printer, "but I believe it has reached a point where people will either have to give up their booze or their motor cars.

"It is unsafe to travel the highways if liquor is to be had by drivers," is his very forceful conclusion.

And you must ride with an intoxicated driver to realize the truth of his logic.

Two thousand acres of forest lands in Los Angeles county swept by flames Sunday tells the story of more carelessness.

It is to be regretted in this dry year that any of the watershed foliage be destroyed and the county can well afford to take extraordinary precautions to preserve the hills from being denuded of their vegetation.

Albert Payson Terhune visited San Francisco recently after having been in Los Angeles. He made a very trite remark regarding the southland.

"It looks too stagey. You would think they took their shrubs indoors every night."

We agree with Al that it does look stagey. You cannot hide the voluptuousness of Southern California in the way San Francisco does. The latter city has beautiful parks, but few people know it.

So, that's that.

If Uncle Sam doesn't watch his step and the Harding administration, which we voted for because Warren was a printer, doesn't awaken to the situation the postal service in these United States of ours is going to be wrecked on the rocks of too much efficiency.

Seems that the efficiency experts underestimated the needs of the department and congress did not vote enough money to keep up the activities and services now enjoyed. Penny wise policy in view of several millions being spent.

In Glendale some relief was afforded by a "holler" that was heard in Washington, but in Sacramento they are laying off seventeen men the first of the month, it is reported, and even now that office cannot keep up with the crush of work from exterior evidence.

Fine business, this government ownership, but we are dead set against the government owning and operating anything.

With justice, however, it can control anything.

At the same time we are critisizing the higher up officials, let us commend the rank and file of civil service workers who compose the personnel of each post-office.

With about as much chance to advance as the human race has in getting to Mars, the postal employe makes the most of his situation. Serving well his fellowman, he is happy in a work which entails honest labor and punctuality and a degree of neatness.

Like the telephone operators, they are always on the job and more than willing to meet you half way with any reasonable request.

But don't be unreasonable, folks.

Are you watching "The Main Thing on Main Street"? It appears in The Glendale Evening News each night and is something different in the way of comic pictures. You will appreciate Van Zelm's humor more and more each day.

But if he doesn't kill the cat, the cat will kill off all Punkinville.

Alleged Bootleg King Battles Dry Sleuths

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—Details of a thrilling gun battle in San Francisco between Los Angeles federal prohibition officials and Jack Miller, asserted by the federal officers to be the "king" of American bootleggers, were related here by one of the officers who participated in the affray.

This officer, a local prohibition agent, returned here and described how Prohibition Agent in Charge H. H. Dolley took an active part in the gun fight and emptied his revolver at Miller, who, it is charged, fired several shots at the prohibition agents.

Indict Small Juror On Conspiracy Charge

WAUKEGAN, Ill., March 29.—John Birnie Fields of Antioch, Ill., a member of the jury that acquitted Governor Len Small here last June, was reported to have been named in a new true bill charging conspiracy and voted by the grand jury just before it adjourned. The grand jury has been investigating alleged attempts to bribe the jury which acquitted the governor of the charge of misuse of state funds.

The true bill was the third reported since the grand jury began its investigation.

EASTER SERVICE FOR COMMANDERY

Knights Templar to Attend Congregational Church Sunday Morning

Easter morning service at the Congregational church will be featured by the formal Easter observance of the Knights Templar, Glendale Commandery, Number 53. Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the church, is a member of the commandery, and so it is of particular significance that the Knights should hold the first Easter service in the new church.

The special musical number of the Easter program will be the singing of "Hail, Glorious Morn" (Cadman), by Madame Ellen Beach Yaw.

Complete order of the service will be:

Stock Operator to Sue N. Y. Exchange

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 29.—Legal action against reluctant short traders who have not taken advantage of settlement offers of Clarence Saunders, grocery clerk who gave Wall street pause for thought, only awaits compilation of the exact number of "short sales" outstanding, the Piggly Wiggly president told International News Service in an exclusive interview.

Action will be taken withtin two weeks, he said. The suit would have been filed yesterday had the necessary information been at hand. The New York Stock Exchange, as well as its members, would be defendants, he indicated. He is seeking the names of all brokers who figured in the short transactions, he said.

Asked if he would file separate suits against the exchange and the brokers, Saunders said:

"That is for my attorneys to decide. It does not matter to me. I suppose, though, it will be all one suit."

Saunders will charge the exchange with conspiracy, and violation of contract, he said, and the brokers will face the latter charge, he promised.

Six Candidates Will Seek Congress Place

SACRAMENTO, March 29.—Six candidates have qualified for a place on the ballot at the congressional election to be held in the tenth district (Los Angeles) on May 1, according to announcement by Charles J. Haggerty, statistician in the secretary of state's office.

The candidates whose petitions have been declared sufficient by the secretary of state, are: Alfred L. Bartlett, former assemblyman; John C. Bell, executive chairman of the Southern California Prohibition association, John D. Fredericks, candidate for governor in 1914; Miss Lloyd Galpin, Los Angeles club woman; Henry Z. Osborne, Jr., son of the late Congressman Osborne, and Frank A. McDonald, attorney.

NOTE: More That One-third Sold Out in Twelve Days GOING FAST!

We Will Drill Within 600 Feet of the Big Lewis Gusher on Signal Hill!

Derrick is completed, machinery is going in, and boilers are being set up on our 1 1-6 acre lease. We intend to spud in by April 2, and oil should be obtained within 90 days.

Just think of our location; in the same block with the Cherry Hill Community Lease, one of the greatest wealth-producing areas in the country; next door to the famous Lovelady Pool with its great flowing wells; just across the street from where the McAdoo interests have started drilling; and just a few hundred feet from the 20,000-bbl. Ryder No. 1, Keck No. 5, Dabney No. 5 and other great producers.

The Southwestern portion of Signal Hill holds the attention of oil men. That is why we believe OLD COLONY TRUST NO. 1 has one of the best leases in the field—and one we expect to produce heavily for the Trust.

Our location—Hill and Almond streets, is one any oil man would give his right arm to own—and we are actually offering a direct ownership in this well to the public on the same basis that the Trustees have gone into it.

M. L. GERMAIN, R. E. HEATH, and C. L. HILL Are Trustees of Old Colony Trust No. 1

When men of this calibre decide to go into the oil business, they MAKE A SUCCESS OF IT, because they operate on sound business principles.

M. L. Germain, Capitalist, is the former President of the Germain Seed and Plant Company of Los Angeles.

Ralph E. Heath, Superintendent, was former field manager of Central Oil Company of Whittier, and later general sales manager for the Union Tool Company. One of the best known petroleum engineers in California.

C. L. Hill, owner of the Parnell Motors Company of Long Beach, was former Vice-President and General Manager of the U. S. Asbestos Company.

OLD COLONY TRUST NO. 1 has contracted with the International Drilling and Engineering Company to drill the well to a depth of 4500 feet, if necessary.

Reserve Your Beneficial Interests

These Interests, 800 all told, share in all the net proceeds from the oil produced on the entire 1 1-6 acres.

An unusual feature incorporated in this Trust is the safeguard provided interest holders in a sinking fund which is to be set aside for deepening or repairs, and for any mishap which might occur to the well to stop production.

We invite you to send for full details—or to reserve immediately your interest. This is the BEST OIL INVESTMENT you will ever be offered.

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—By thrift and economy the industrial—and industrious—West has staged an economic "come back" out of post-war depression, writes John D. Mueller, Chicago.

TOMORROW—Paris is all wrought up in a profound discussion of the age at which a girl should marry, writes Alice Langelier, Paris correspondent.

By JOHN D. MUELLER
For International News Service

CHICAGO, March 29.—The great middle west has done more than loosen its purse strings after the period of financial depression. It has literally thrown open its vast money bags. Only once in history—in 1920—has so vast an amount of money been in circulation as during the present year.

According to records of the Chicago Clearing House, through which pass millions of dollars daily, the mercury of prosperity is gradually moving upward. At the close of business for the month of January, 1922, money handled through the clearing house totalled nearly three thousand million dollars.

The climb upward has been gradual. It now wears the mark set during the days of hectic spending of 1920. But this time it is builded upon a more substantial foundation. Men are thinking before spending, yet spending liberally.

The slump of 1921 reduced the monthly clearings to slightly below $2,000,000,000, compared with average monthly clearings of considerably above $3,000,000,000 the year preceding. During 1920 slight gains were made, only to be lost again, and as the year closed the total stood in the neighborhood of $2,000,000,000—a loss of more than $1,000,000,000 monthly, compared with 1920.

Then, however, with the start of a new year, the gradual march upward was started. At the close of the year a gain considerably above a half billion was registered. And with the close of business last January, clearings totalled $2,797,385,96—representing a gain of $236,000,000 over those of the last month of 1922.

And February of this year more than held its own, despite holidays and the fact that it was handicapped by being the shortest month of the year. Daily the clearings hovered around the $1,000,000,000 mark and usually were well above.

The Chicago Clearing House report means much. It is truly a barometer, not only of business in Chicago, but throughout the vast tributary region. Chicago is the great clearing house of the entire middle west.

A healthy financial condition at Chicago is little more than a reflection of a like condition in the tributary region.

While congress argued loudly and long as its medics stirred various business panaceas in the great legislative cauldron at Washington the industrial middle west hunted out that old-fashioned cure—thrift and economy. The curing process was painful, but, it would seem from the state of finance here today, it has emerged more robust than ever.

Millions were lost—some men had to dig down deep into their pockets to prevent complete disaster to industry—but the results are beginning to show.

Interesting is the financial news received from the rural districts since the passing of the old year.

When the period of deflation arrived the farmer was hardest hit of all. He has not yet "come back," according to experts. Some blame the lack of foreign demand for grains. Some attribute it to other causes. There was, however, in the news of the new year indications that the agricultural regions, too, are "coming back."

That indication is found in reports on savings by school children. Despite the staggering burden of deflation borne by the farmer, his son and daughter during the year of 1922 deposited more money in school savings accounts than in any year preceding—including the days of "silk shirt" wages, when all commanded pay unheard of before and spent money freely.

The American Legion And the Church

FIRST, let it be said that the American Legion is a cross-section of our society, which cuts through dividing lines of sectionalism and denominationalism, as well as melting together the different racial elements of our land. The World War was a great unifying agent for our country, giving birth to a more pronounced nationalism than had ever existed previously, perfecting more nearly a nation of one people and ideals.

The American Legion is in the days of its youth. The zenith of its strength and purpose will not be reached within two decades, but the mission of this great new organization representing 4,500,000 of the best blood of American youth is beginning to take shape. If it is to realize the splendid sentiment as set forth in the Preamble to its Constitution, it will need to take into consideration every organization that can help in the attainment of these high ideals and purposes.

There is no organization within our society that has been so vitally concerned and closely associated with the development and well-being of the American Republic from its beginning than the organization which represents the religious forces, the Church. There is no genuine patriotism which does not have in it a deep religious emotion. "God and Country" cannot be separated. To love and serve one is to love and serve both. Clean living and patriotism are inseparable.

The service man went into the World War led by high ideals in the defense of his country, at the sacrifice of life, health and position. He learned the lesson of devotion in a supreme fashion. To keep that spirit alive is the task of the American Legion. Our greatest work is ahead. The wrongs of the world have not been righted. Our urgent and immediate task is to "carry on."

The American Legion stands for tolerance, unity and democracy. There could be no more potent and effective combination than the unity of effort and close co-operation between the Church and the American Legion. There is not a clause in the Preamble to the Legion Constitution that is not close to the heart and purpose of the Church.

There always has existed a close relationship between the churches of the north and the south with the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate Veterans. Now that these organizations are about to fade from our national life, only visibly, but not from our memories, the Legion is their logical successor. It will find the religious forces as ready to co-operate as they were with the Civil War Veterans' organizations.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE COLD WOLF

"Dear me! I wonder what's the matter with Uncle Wiggily?" said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the hollow stump bungalow as she looked at the breakfast table rather late one morning. "He hasn't been down yet to eat his carrot pancakes and turnip coffee. I wonder if he might be ill?"

Going to the foot of the stairs, Nurse Jane called up:

"Aren't you coming to breakfast, Uncle Wiggily?"

"No, thank you he answered in a thick voice. "I have such a dreadful cold, Nurse Jane, that I don't know what to do."

"Oh, you have a cold! That's too bad!" exclaimed Nurse Jane. "How did you get it, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Out on the hill top yesterday, looking for spring," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Well, I'll tell you what to do," went on the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Come down stairs and I'll make you some warm chocolate to drink. Then I'll fix a tubful of hot mustard and water."

"Oh, dear me! Do I have to drink a tubful of hot mustard and water, Nurse Jane?" asked the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Of course not!" laughed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. 'That's just for you to soak your hind paws in. Always, when you have a cold, drink chocolate and soak your hind paws in hot mustard water."

"Thank you, I'll do it," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll come down stairs now."

Down he came, the poor old bunny rabbit, with such a dreadful cold. His pink nose had turned red and he had the sniffle-snuffles and he coughed and sneezed and felt dreadful.

"Now first I'll make the chocolate for you," said Nurse Jane, and when Uncle Wiggily had sipped some of that he felt a little better.

"That was good, Nurse Jane," he said.

"The hot mustard bath will be even better yet for you," said the muskrat lady.

"Not to take—not to swallow inside!" cried Uncle Wiggily, for he thought, after all, perhaps Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy might be trying to play a little trick on him, as she sometimes played tricks to get Sammie and Susie Littletail to take castor oil. "I'm not going to drink hot mustard and water!" cried the bunny gentleman.

"Nonsense! Don't be silly! Didn't I tell you I wouldn't make you drink the mustard water?" laughed Nurse Jane. "I'll just fix it for you to soak your paws in."

She brought in a washtub, and filled it with steaming hot water. Then in it she sprinkled some dry, yellow mustard powder, and moved an easy chair close to the tub, so Uncle Wiggily could sit in it and soak his feet.

"And I'll put another cup of hot cholocate on the table near you, so you can sip it as you soak your paws," said kindly Nurse Jane.

Everything was all ready, and Nurse Jane had skipped across the street to ask Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, for a cough drop to give Uncle Wiggily. The bunny gentleman, left alone for the moment in his hollow stump bungalow, was sipping his hot chocolate and just going to dip his paws in the hot mustard water when, all of a sudden, in through the door which Nurse Jane had left open, popped the Wolf.

"Oh, how cold I am! How cold I am!" howled the Woozie Wolf.

"Cold? Do you mean you have caught cold?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I don't know what it is, but I'm so cold and shivery!" howled the Wolf. "I must nibble your ears, I think, to make myself warm. Your ears look red and warm and—ah, ha! What's this?" he suddenly cried, as he saw the steaming hot chocolate on the table and the steaming hot tub of mustard water on the floor. "This looks warm."

He took a big drink of the steaming hot mustard water.

"It is—very warm," answered Uncle Wiggily, sipping his chocolate.

"Ho," sneered the Wolf. "I want something larger than a cup to drink from. I'll drink this that's in the tub to warm me, and then I'll nibble your ears." With that the Woozie creature took a big drink of the steaming hot mustard water. Then a queer look came over the Wolf's face. He stood up on his hind legs, twisted his tail like a corkscrew and howled. "Wow! Wow! Double wow! Oh, now I'm warm! I'm too warm! I'm on fire inside!" and out of the door he ran as fast as he could go.

"What did you do to the Wolf?" asked Nurse Jane, coming back.

"I didn't do anything! He did it himself," said Uncle Wiggily. "He drank some of my mustard water! Oh, ho! Ho! Ha! Ha!" And after that the bunny gentleman's cold was much better.

And if the goldfish doesn't catch the toothache in his tail and mew all night like a pussy cat, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the spring hat.

The GLENDALE

In "The Shriek of Araby," produced by Mack Sennett with his famous cross-eyed comedian in the stellar role, the desert is stripped of its glamour and the "grim underlying reality" laid bare, in a series of screamingly funny sequences, the help of a bevy of diving beauties being involved.

Sheiks are shown to be just ordinary "ham" actors with a good make-up, and even the camels and ostriches come in for their panning.

"Don't ever say camel or ostrich to me again," warns Turpin, "unless you mean a cigarette or an ostrich plume! I sure am fed up on the desert!"

The T. D. & L.

"The Voice from the Minaret," a First National picture starring Norma Talmadge, now showing at the T. D. & L. Theatre, is one of the most thrilling vehicles in which this star has ever appeared.

Robert Hitchens, who has gained international fame as a writer of tales of the Orient, is the author of the book from which this story was adapted. Frank Lloyd directed the production.

Swiftly moving, the plot traverses a vast expanse, with London, Bombay and Damascus the locales.

Eugene O'Brien, who plays opposite Miss Talmadge, is a star in his own right, making the picture superbly acted.

RADIO DEVELOPMENT

U. S AIR SERVICE (RESERVE)

VACUUM TUBES IN RADIO

The introduction of vacuum tubes, also known as audions, audiotrones, vacuum valves, electrones, thermionic valves and numerous other technical and trade names, but alike in their basic characteristics, resulted in remarkably great advances in radio communication. An advance which is really revolutionary, no other science having, so to speak such a radical overnight change in practical application as that which occurred in radio after the arrival of the vacuum tube. Such tubes may be used for many purposes, to generate, to modulate radio oscillations, to detect or rectify as well as to amplify radio signals, and they are now used in all types of modern equipment. The further development of the tube is rapidly progressing and new applications of its use develop so rapidly that one engaged in radio work must be a assiduous reader to keep in touch with these new developments. Therefore it is of the utmost importance that the principles underlying the use of vacuum tubes and their operation under the widely different conditions met in actual radio practice be given careful study.

If two wires are connected to a battery, one to each terminal, the other ends may be brought very close together in air, yet so long as they do not touch no current flows between them. The two ends may be inclosed in a bulb like an ordinary incandescent lamp, and the air pumped out, leaving a vacuum, and still as long as the ends do not touch no current flows. A common experience will illustrate this. When the filament of an ordinary electric lamp breaks and the current is interrupted the light goes out. Now, if one of the two wire ends mentioned above is heated to, say, a bright red, or hotter, and the other kept cold or normal, it is an interesting fact that a current can be made to flow across the apparently empty space between them.

The above illustration may be accepted as a crude vacuum tube. The two wires may be called the "electrodes" of the tube. The current between the hot and cold electrode is made possible by the electrons given off by the hot electrode and is a large enough current to be measured by a sensitive instrument and to have highly important uses in radio communcation, as will be shown in the succeeding articles.

Baby Accuses Father As Mother's Assailant

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—Upon a clue coming from the baby lips of 3-year-old Chester Roddick, police started a search for his father as the assailant of Mrs. Florence Roddick, who was brutally beaten into unconsciousness at the little home where she supported her two children by taking in washing.

"Daddy hit mamma," were the child's words.

Mrs. Roddick, upon regaining consciousness at the hospital, said she did not know the identity of her assailant, who entered her room through a window. Police believe she is protecting her husband, who she charged some time ago with desertion and non-support.

After spending much time and money upon a home made receiving set the writer has often observed that the experimenter has neglected to provide decent looking binding posts—a detail that would even catch the layman's eye. Will Include Airport In Map of Glendale

The relief map of the city of Glendale, which is now under construction by J. T. Edwards and which is to be exhibited at the Merchants' Industrial Exposition that opens here on May 25, will include the Glendale airport at the junction of Grand View and San Fernando roads.

Mr. Edwards has received the endorsement of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce in his plan to build the relief map showing every part of Glendale, and he is doing it without any cost to that organization. The inclusion of the airport in the map is expected to do much to acquaint the visitors to the exposition with the fact that Glendale has established a municipal airport, as it is predicted that the bonds for the purchase of the site will be approved by the voters on April 10, when the question will be decided at the polls.

Chapman, "master mind" of a $3,000,000 mail truck robbery, in New York, was shot through the hip. His companion was taken unwounded.

Romeo and Columbine

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

The excitement and novelty of her engagement to Howard was no longer new, and Linda was able, once more, to pay some attention to the gaieties of a busy season.

"It will be fun, this masquerade of Helen's," she said.

Howard nodded. "And we will go, I suppose, as the newly engaged always do, as Pierrot and Columbine, or . . . "

"Of course. For you know, Howard, I have a wonderful Columbine costume." So it was left. And right then each of these lovers started to plan to deceive the other.

"I do not wish anyone to know me, even Howard," Linda excused herself, "for it will be so much more fun when we unmask." She planned a new costume for herself and decided it would be a rare treat to watch Pierrot search in vain for Columbine.

It was easily arranged because, for her friendship to Helen, Linda was asked to arrive early, while Howard put in an appearance later. She watched the door for Pierrot. Last minute arrivals came by the score. There was bustle and confusion, but no Pierrot.

After an hour passed Linda began to feel sorry for herself and to wish the hour for unmasking would hasten. She stepped out on a balcony overlooking the ballroom floor and there saw Pierrot—and another Columbine!

"I wonder," Linda put the question to herself, "I wonder if he thinks that girl is I, if he dares think that skinny girl——" and she tapped her foot as an attentive Pierrot leaned over the shoulder of a coquettish Columbine.

"Juliet!" A tall man in a Romeo costume had sought her out. "It is fitting to find Juliet on the balcony," he said in the strained voice which told of the attempt to disguise, "and it is right that Romeo should find her."

For all of the discovery, the stranger was without enthusiasm. Romeo and Juliet stood on the balcony and watched the other couple.

"I wonder," said Romeo, "who that Pierrot is."

"And I," Juliet sighed, "would give a slipper to find out the name of the girl."

At least here was a mutual interest. Romeo looked at Juliet, down at the other two, and shrugged his shoulders. After all, why not? If Linda could flirt like that with another fellow and be so happy about it, he ought not to be expected to go about pulling a long face.

"I'll find out for you if I can," he said, "but let's dance first."

So Romeo and Juliet danced together and trailed Pierrot and Columbine.

"Mercy, wouldn't Howard be angry if he know how I was letting this man dance with me three times in succession," Linda said to herself. "That is, he'd be angry if he weren't so interested in that—that other girl."

It might have been the costume and the requirements of the role, or it might have been the music and the sense of wrong each felt was his, but it was no time at all before Romeo and Juliet began to confide to one another.

"Do you know," he said, "I was prepared to have a miserable time until I met you?"

"And I," said Juliet, "was about to weep my eyes out when you appeared." They decided to go to dinner together.

"Let's keep close to Pierrot and Columbine," she said. "Then when we unmask we'll find out who they are."

Standing beside their chairs at the long tables, the guests waited the signal to unmask. Romeo and Juliet watched Pierrot and Columbine, and Pierrot and Columbine had eyes for none but each other. The masks were lifted. There was laughter and applause. A little gasp beside Romeo and he felt a tug at his elbow.

"Wasn't it splendid, Howard," said Juliet, "that I knew you all the time?"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope, bearing your full name and address. (s. a. s. e.) The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember, it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget to enclose a s. a. s. e. if you ask for an article.

Mrs. H.: You are nearly 60 pounds overweight. It has been found that many of the uncomfortable symptoms that come with the menopause are due to the excess weight. I recommend most heartily that you reduce your weight. I am sure half of your nervous symptoms will go with the fat. Some physicians give corpus luteum tablets during the menopause. The corpus luteum is part of the ovary. Ask your physician about this treatment.

If you have not done so, send a s. a. s. e. (self-addressed, stamped envelope) and four cents in stamps for our instructions on reducing. Also ask for the names of the books on help for nervous people.

Mrs. R.: Whole wheat or graham or bran bread has more of the vitamins and mineral salts than has white bread and therefore is a better food. You should not drink anything very hot. Dr. Mayo's experience has led him to believe that the drinking and eating of very hot foods will cause an ulceration of the stomach in time.

Agar is a Japanese sea-weed and it is not digested. It absorbs water and in this way helps form a bulk in the intestines, and thus is good for constipation. Two or three heaping tablespoonful taken every day is a good habit if you are constipated. It could be taken in water or you can pour hot water over it and take with milk. It makes a good cereal this way. Or you can make a pudding of it by adding flavoring and milk and eggs, etc.

Paraffin oil is a mineral oil and that also is not absorbed. It is good in many cases of constipation as it lubricates the bowel. It would be wise for you to take the agar in the morning and a tablespoonful of the oil at night. Large amounts of the liquid paraffin are advised by some doctors. When this advice is followed it is necessary to wear a napkin, because some of the oil oozes from the bowel when taken in large amounts.

I am sorry but it is impossible for me to answer letters personally. All I can do to read 'em—and wish I could answer each one personally! However, you can know this, all of you, you have my best thoughts for help and sooner or later your problem will be taken up in the column if it is of general interest.

"Dear Doctor:

"I am writing in behalf of my mother, who must be overweight as her symptoms are similar to some of your followers. She is 5 feet, 7 inches in height, weighs 227 pounds and is on the upward trend. She will be 51 next month. At times her heart pains her as though the flesh were cut with a knife. She has rheumatic pains that keep her awake nights. She is very short of breath and feels very tired most of the time. Her back hurts over the kidneys and she is generally miserable. She has a good appetite. Can you tell us what to do to get rid of her troubles?—Mrs. S."

Yes, my dear, I shall tell you what to do to get rid of her troubles. Just get rid of her good appetite and the thing is done! Mother is 77 pounds overweight. That is some load for her to be carrying. Send a s. a. s. e. to me in care of this paper and include four cents in stamps for the article on reducing.

Beauty Chats

by Edna Kent Forbes

DEVELOPING THE BUST

Fashion papers have recently been saying that the slim, flat boyish, figure is going out of favor. Slim my lady must be to wear the newest styles, but with well rounded bust and hips. The recent excitement over the discovery at Luxor of the treasures of Tutankhamen will have its effect on fashions and therefore on figures, for figures are made to fit the clothes nowadays. A few Parisian designers, indeed, are already playing up the Egyptian motif. Filmy, floating draperies with heavy jewelled ornaments for contrast require a well developed figure.

So, no doubt, the woman who has tried conscientiously to suppress the fact that she possessed a bust will now wonder whether drinking malt and taking exercises will not give her greater roundness. It probably will, so here are a few suggestions.

Lie down with the head slightly lower than the body, raise the arms and breathe in slowly and steadily and as fully as possible. Lower the arms sideways, at the same time breathing out slowly. Close the hands and bring them to a point immediately in front of the arm pits. You will feel this over all the muscles of the chest and bust. Repeat a dozen times.

While still lying in this position raise the arms as high as possible, then move them back over the head, keeping the elbows straight and clasping the hands. Inhale while doing this and exhale as the arms are brought back to their first position. Repeat this a dozen times.

Three times a week bathe the bust with very warm water and massage gently but thoroughly with olive oil or warm cocoa butter. This should be done at night and the bust bathed in the morning with cold water. Fattening drinks also help.

G. B.—As you are so many pounds under-weight you probably need building up. This would account for the poor quality of your hair and the sallow skin. It would be best to have your doctor prescribe for you, but you can help yourself also by eating such foods as will nourish you without taxing the digestion. If olive oil agrees with you, take a tablespoon three times a day. It is best taken with the meals.

I will be glad to mail you a formula for a tonic for the lashes and brows, if you will send a stamped self-addressed envelope for the mailing.

Mrs. S. E.—Your scalp must be in need of treatment to cause this trouble with your hair, and, since you can have professional care for it, I would have this done. Some hair would be injured by being subjected to the process needed for permanent waving, but for most hair it does not affect it; however, the people who do this work examine the hair before they undertake the work, and if it will be injured they advise you not to have it done.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. The time for our annual fight with the moth has arrived. The good housekeeper finds satisfaction in being thorough to a point of "fussiness" in exterminating this pest.

Moths in wool clothing must be killed as follows: Clean the garment out of doors with either gasoline or benzine (both fluids are extremely inflammable and cannot be used near heat or flame). Brushing on the under side of coat-collars, in seams, pockets and other creases where moth eggs are most liable to be deposited is especially important. The value of long sunning after cleaning cannot be over-emphasized. When you feel that you have conquered the moth (indeed, it is wise to brush and sun clothes even when no traces of moths are found), the next step is to wrap the garment in newspapers and seal the folded edges of the paper tightly with strips of gummed paper. Hang such bundles by string, in a light place during the Summer months.

Many housekeepers notice moths and buffalo bugs in their rugs as the warmer weather approaches. To get rid of these, clean the rugs well by the usual process—beating out of doors—then spray them on both sides with gasoline. Air them thoroughly after this spraying, before returning them to their place on the floor.

A badly infested carpet, however, needs the following treatment: Go over the entire surface with a hot iron, pressing the rug or carpet over a cloth wrung out of cold water but not too dry. The resulting formation of steam will kill both the eggs and larvae of the moths and buffalo bugs.

Moths in closets are killed as follows: Remove everything in the closet, clean floor and walls with a whisk broom, and then spray kerosene into all cracks in floor and walls and around baseboards and ends of shelves. Bags containing dried lavender are a valuable repellent; just hang these tiny bags on the closet hooks and leave them there the year round.

To keep moths from getting into the felt in your piano, hang small bags containing cedar chips or camphor balls inside the piano case.

The woman who lives near a big city fur store, or department store, which has a cold storage plant for furs, is indeed lucky. It costs little to store your furs in such a plant for the summer—and what a lot of trouble and anxiety it saves the housekeeper! Otherwise she must brush and sun her furs at home and store them in newspaper packages as directed above for clothing.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

A TERRIBLE EXTRAVAGANCE

How can people be so careless of the way they use their eyes?

On the same principle, I suppose, that makes people more extravagant in the use of a charge account than if they had to pay cash.

And if the charge account didn't have to be paid up for 20 years or so, I suppose they might be even more extravagant.

If one had difficulty in seeing one day because one had abused one's eyes the day before, one would probably be careful how one treated them the next day.

But when Nature doesn't ask us to pay anything on our overdrawn account until we are 40 or 50 or even 60 or 70, why should we think so much about it when we are 25 or 30?

Outwitting the Doctor

A young girl whom I know has been told by her oculist that she must always wear the glasses he has given her for any close work. This is her reaction to that, "I wear them in my room sometimes, but never when anyone can see me. I hate glasses. Sometimes I have a little headache, but most of the time I don't notice the difference. I think doctors exaggerate terribly. He told me I'd have a lot of trouble if I didn't."

If anyone should tell her that he probably meant some time later, she would doubtless respond that she should worry about that.

And her air when speaking about it shows plainly that she thinks she is being very clever and devil-may-care. Outwitting the doctor, as it were.

Some day she will see things differently. I know a woman of 74, who has suffered some loss of sight. You young people who are reading this doubtless think that is to be expected and that she should be resigned. Well, she isn't the least bit. She doesn't like the idea of blindness one bit better than you do. And the fact that she has her own carelessness in the use of her eyes when she was younger to thank for it, her habit of working on dark things at night, of reading and sewing into the light instead of with the light coming over her left shoulder, does not make her any more resigned.

They Thought Me Queer

I went into a hospital once to select the room where I might spend some weeks after an operation. The room was pleasant except that the bed was placed so that one lay looking directly into the light. "If I took this room," I said, "I should have to have the bed turned around so that the light for reading would come from behind." Great surprise! They might do it, but it always had been placed that way. Had no one ever asked to have it turned? I inquired. "Oh, no," they said. And yet presumably dozens of patients had occupied that bed and had, as one always does in such circumstances, spent hours in reading.

Are You Guilty?

Reading with a high light instead of a low, shaded light, working at a desk that looks into the light, reading upwards lying flat on one's back—these are some of the forms of eye extravagance that people, especially people in the careless age under 30 years, commit.

I heard another young woman rebuked for eye extravagance, and she said: "Oh, I guess they'll last as long as I want them." Maybe they will and maybe they won't. But don't forget this, that if you are alive you will want them just as poignantly at 70 as you did at 17.

EAST END VOTES DOWN ANNEXING

Tabulated Returns Are Now Being Analyzed; Notes From Eagle Rock

Analysis of annexation election returns, which continue to be the chief topic of discussion in Eagle Rock shows that the "ayes" had it in four out of five polling districts.

Only in the east end did the "nays" succeed in obtaining a majority, and there by but twenty votes. Elsewhere annexation was quite obviously what the people wanted—and they went to the polls and got it, in true American fashion.

Following are the tabulated returns, in each of the five districts:

District—	Yes	No
Public Library	220	162
South Central Avenue	253	176
Central Avenue School	186	124
City Hall	285	165
East End	163	183

The ballots will be taken to Los Angeles, where they will be verified by the city council, after which the city council will vote whether or not to accept Eagle Rock's annexation offer.

Building Permits

That Eagle Rock is rapidly finding its "place in the sun" is attested by the fact that so far in March, building permits totaling $280,317 have been issued, according to records in the office of City Clerk B. B. Martsolf, in the city hall.

Permits issued on Wednesday, March 28, reached the total of $22,800, not including several smaller permits for garages and additions.

Entertains Sister

Mrs. A. V. Stafford, formerly in the real estate business in Glendale, who is now operating her own realty office at 206 East Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock, recently entertained for several days her sister, Mrs. Eugene Levinson, from Little Rock, Ark., at the apartments at 119 North Kenwood street, Glendale, where Mrs. Stafford lives.

Mrs. Stafford believes that Eagle Rock is due for a big building and business boom, with resultant increases in population.

The hog accumulating meat for slaughter knows how a man feels during the intervals between income tax installments.

ENLARGE LUMBER COMPANY PLANT

Montrose Territory Brings Steady Increase of Business

Proof that the carpenters of the "Up-Country" are busy hammering nails into the lumber of new buildings is contained in the announcement that the Bettingen Lumber company's branch at Montrose recently found it necessary to increase its lumber shed capacity by an additional one-third.

This company serves a territory which is bounded on the south by Glendale, on the west by Tujunga, and on the east by Pasadena. It has been estimated that it is located in a district in which there are 15,000 persons.

Albert E. Sullivan of 406 West Maple street, manager of the Montrose plant, is extremely optimistic in regard to the development of Montrose and vicinity.

"We are more than pleased with conditions up here," he remarked. "Our business has reached a point where we have found it necessary to erect an additional shed to take care of our stock of surplus finish lumber."

The new shed is sixty feet long, 22 feet high and twenty-six feet wide. It contains two decks and four tiers of bins. It will hold about 30,000 feet of lumber. This is arranged according to size, length and quality.

Shed No. 1 is 120 feet long, 22 feet high and 26 feet wide. The southern end contains three compartments, 16 by 26 feet in size and extending to the roof. These contain the extra long pieces of finish lumber. Each section has double doors so that a truck can back in to load up.

A room in the northern end of this shed is stocked up with sash and doors of all assorted thicknesses.

Mr. Sullivan is proud of the arrangement of the yard which has been laid out in such a methodical manner that every stick of timber has its proper place—until it is put into a new home.

A spur track of the Glendale & Montrose railway is being found quite a convenience. This terminates at this company's planing mill. It passes directly by the cement and plaster warehouse which has a capacity of 350 barrels.

SPORTS

The WORLD OVER
By FRANKLIN B. MORSE.
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Followers of aeronautics are wondering whether there is any likelihood of changing the deed of gift of the James Gordon Bennett trophy for balloon racing. With the advent of the dirigible balloon and the airplane the old round balloon that simply drifted at the mercy of the winds has become a thing of the past. The balloon that is without the power of propulsion now only is used as a means of going up at a stationary point and taking observations. It is claimed that there is little or nothing to be gained by merely going aloft to be the plaything of the air currents with the possibility of landing amid snow crowned mountain crags or falling in the ocean, both of which means death.

We are being regaled with reports that the fellow countrymen of McTigue have hoisted him onto a pedestal and made a hero of him for winning the decision against the Senegalese heavyweight boxer Siki. For a continuance of this delightful sensation McTigue is advised to remain just where he is for if he wanders afield he will find that there are a lot of Missourians about who will want something more impressive than a win over a man whose greatest reputation at this stage of the game rests in his enthusiastic and constant companionship with the filled wine bottle. Wine guzzling never went with boxing and it is not likely to begin the process of assimilation in the case of Siki who is defunct as far as the American public is concerned. He still may make a go of it where they continue to stand for such fossils as Bombardied Wells and Beckett, but not in these U. S. A.

With only one veteran left for his varsity eight-oared crew for this year, Coach Ben Wallis of the University of California still finds it possible to smile and talk to interviewers of the possibility of his men going to Poughkeepsie after they have won from the University of Washington. This is optimism raised to the nth degree, but as far as followers of rowing on the Pacific Coast are concerned, if Wallis can succeed in making an even creditable showing, let alone winning, he will be hailed as SOME coach.

It is understood that all the Mayors and Chiefs of police in the cities where the Pacific Coast baseball league will start their opening games on April 3, have been signed up to pitch and catch the first ball of the season. Mayor Rolph of San Francisco doubtless will be arrayed in his silk hat, baseball shirt, golf trousers and riding boots—his customary opening day costume.

STRONG PITCHING TO AID PIRATES

Nineteen Hurlers Included in Pittsburg Team as Season Opens

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 29.—"I have a team that will finish one, two, three, in the National league," declared Manager McKechnie today as he looked over the workout of the Pirate squad, which has the unique distinction of including no less than nineteen pitchers.

McKechnie's statement is by no means too enthusiastic. He has the same club which made a bold dash for the wire during the last half of the 1922 season, a veteran team that did not find itself until mid-season and did not falter until its pitching suddenly went to seed. This department now is augmented by two or more very plausible recruits and it is likely that some of the veterans who have been branded with the Pirate "P" will be cast into the discard.

The brunt of the battle last year fell upon Cooper and Morrison and they bore up well. Babe Adams is back for another whirl even though he is to celebrate his forty-first birthday in May, and McKechnie is counting upon "Whitey" Glazner, to show some of the cunning that made him an outstanding hurler in 1921.

Carlson, denied the privilege of returning to the spit ball, and Hamilton, a hard luck left hander last season, will have to step lively to hang on with the cub.

Strong All Around

Two candidates they will have to contend with are Jim Bagby, the old Cleveland right hander, and Brown, a product of the Reading International league club. Brown looked like a comer at the fag end of 1922.

Another dangerous entry is George Boehler, a wild man when he was with the Detroit Tigers.

The infield will be made up of Traynor at third; Maranville at short; Tierney at second, and Grimm at first.

Carey and Bigbee, splendid outfielders, will care for center and left field, respectively, while the slugging Reb Russell will be in right field.

The Pirates are well fortified behind the plate with Schmidt, premier backstop of the league, and Gooch, a dandy young receiver, available.

WELSH PLANS TO WIN BACK TITLE

Mediocre Class of English Lures Ex-Champion Back to Ring

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, March 29.—The class of boxing abroad has fallen to such low estate that Freddie Welsh, passe these many years, has decided, after giving the field there the left to right, to return to England this summer and win back the lightweight championship of Europe. Welsh made this statement upon his arrival here after a short tour of the old country, supplementing the announcement with a few disparaging remarks upon the decadence of foreign boxing.

According to Fred, mediocrity is the kindest term he can apply to the European champions, with the exception of Jimmy Wilde, world's flyweight titleholder. Contrary to popular impression, Wilde is in excellent condition, he declares, and will astound the populace when he comes here within a few months to fight Pancho Villa, the frantic Filipino.

"Jimmy has kept himself in splendid condition," Welsh declared. "He is not fat at all. I told Wilde he was meeting a fast little lighter in Villa, and he replied:

Welshman Ready

"I'll be in condition. They think the little Welshman is all in, but I'll hand them a surprise when I meet Villa."

Speaking for himself, Welsh was not reticent in declaring that business was excellent and would remain so as long as there was a lightweight in England.

"I saw the lightweight champion of England box," he said. "His name is Seaman Hall. He met a fellow named Morgan in Cardiff. I know I can beat that champion. They asked me to come back in June to meet Hall, and I will do just that. The rest of the field, including Todd and Joe Beckett and the other champions, are about in the same class with Hall. They would not last long over here."

Welsh must be shading forty in age and has done little or no actual fighting since Benny Leonard beat him for the world's championship.

Our men have all had the benefit of ten days at Byron Hot Springs, and the entire month of March (twenty-one days at Hanford and ten days at Stockton—to get into shape. We serve notice to the fans of the Pacific Coast league that Portland will be out there trying to win a ball game every day, doing our best to deserve fair treatment and the loyal support of lovers of baseball everywhere.

We are going to get up as close to the top and win the pennant if we can. Possibly we will lose many ball games, but we will also win our share. Our team is in good condition and is rapidly being molded into an effective machine. There is no criticism to be made. We are all working in harmony to the one end—and that is winning ball games.

Our pitching staff is as good as any in the league. So is our outfield. We are contemplating deals to strengthen up our infield and catching staff. The breaks of the game often decide the day. All Portland asks is an even break, and our share of good luck as regards accidents.

"We are ready and willing to meet them all, and the fans can depend upon Portland to be out there playing winning ball all the time. I am entirely satisfied with the condition of my club, and I earnestly hope that the brand of baseball we will present to the Pacific coast fans will be entirely to their satisfaction.

Kearns Plans Summer Schedule for Dempsey

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey, was scheduled to arrive here last night to confer with the champion regarding plans for the summer months.

According to wires received from Kearns en route, matches for the champion with Jess Willard, Luis Firpo and Harry Wills are expected to find places on Dempsey's ring schedule.

Dempsey has had no advance notice of Kearns' plans, but is anxious to get ring work and will place his ok on any suggestions Kearns may make.

Coast League Rulers Plan Change of Rules

LOS ANGELES, March 29.—A meeting of coast league directors to change rules passed at the last meeting in Portland will be held Saturday, was the belief of Oscar Reichow, new business manager of the Los Angeles club, who returned home after having a conference with President William H. McCarthy at San Francisco.

Opinions of Talesmen Delay Murder Trial

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., March 29.—Fixed opinions of talesmen in the case of John P. Masters, charged with the murder of his wife, Elizabeth, who was beaten to death with an iron bar as she slept at the Masters home, delayed the selection of a jury to try him. Indications were today that a new venire of jurors would have to be summoned before twelve are secured to try the realty broker.

High Prices to Boost Production of Sugar

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The present high prices of sugar in the United States are expected to stimulate production in Cuba where "at this moment plantation profits are very large," Secretary of Commerce Hoover declared in a letter to Representative Dallinger, republican, Massachusetts, who asked for information on the state of the American sugar market.

Lasker is reminded that Noah's cruise was none the less successful because he postponed the drunk until after landing.

HABITS IN THE MAKING

MAN is principally a creature of habit. Therefore, during the earlier, the more impressionable years of his life is the time to guide him in the formation of habits that will be of benefit to him in later life.

Nothing is more important in the raising of a family than adequate bathroom facilities. These facilities should be made easily available and so attractive that the use of them will be regarded as a daily pleasure, rather than a duty.

"Cleanliness is next to Godliness." If properly raised, one loves to be clean, and to be clean of body is to be clean of mind.

Liberal expenditures for high-grade attractive plumbing facilities in your home is the best investment in the world, and considering its moral influence; its health insurance; its longevity, the most economical.

BUY GOOD PLUMBING PERSONALLY, DIRECT FROM A GOOD PLUMBER.

The Sanitary Development League is composed of over 200 of Southern California's most progressive and successful plumbers. Dealing with one of them is your greatest safeguard of price, quality and workmanship.

C. OF C. LISTENS TO SUGGESTIONS

Delegates From Many Civic Bodies Attend Meeting To Present Views

directing heads of the various organizations be invited, during their terms of office, to become members of the Chamber of Commerce, free of charge, as a first step toward working out a more harmonious relationship and a clearer understanding of the work of the Chamber of Commerce.

Transportation Question

Mr. Streit also touched briefly on the question of transportation, stating that the Chamber of Commerce appeared to be adopting a sort of veiled partisanship toward the Pacific Electric and alleging that it was apparently attempting to block competition by other companies. He also condemned the purchase of land by the city without proper investigation.

The protests on the high dues, declared V. M. Hollister, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, are merely a subterfuge in many instances to cover a personal grudge against some member of the board, and he advocated that the conditions of membership in the organization be amended by the elimination of the three year membership contract, which President Smith stated has been attended to.

Transportation Question

The principal needs of the Chamber of Commerce, in the opinion of W. A. Horn, are optimism, vision and democracy, and he stressed the point that no city can grow and develop without a Chamber of Commerce. In spite of the criticism that he had heard regarding the organization, and in spite of the fact that his offers of service to the body had been ignored, Mr. Horn declared that, if the Chamber of Commerce were to lapse, he would move out of town and seek some other location. But, he insisted, the Chamber of Commerce must stop making claims to accomplishments when other organizations were entitled to some of the credit.

Constructive Criticism

Director A. R. Eastman pleaded for constructive criticism and asked that the representatives of the various societies put forward some suggestions that could be taken as the ground work for building a better Chamber of Commerce, leaving the old faults to the past and looking toward the future.

Alex Mitchell declared that the Chamber of Commerce was too autocratic and he also added his plea for a more democratic type of organization, where those who were not financially interested might have a chance to be heard and to have their opinions given due consideration. William Griffin also stated that the Chamber of Commerce was at times inclined to favor some sections at the expense of others, and he also scored the tendency to claim credit exclusively for many of the things that are accomplished here. H. M. Butts insisted that success depends on a contented and permanent membership and he added that no star chamber sessions be held, from which the average member was excluded. Mrs. E. B. Moore, while taking a strong stand in support of the Chamber of Commerce, declared that it ought to be run more along the democratic lines followed by the Parent-Teachers Association, and in this contention she was supported by Col. James W. Evernigton.

Promises of Support

The support of the Exchange club was pledged to the Chamber of Commerce by George A. Whitaker, and A. L. Ferguson also lined the Kiwanis club up behind the organization in its work for the good of Glendale, as did William Hooper of the Glendale Credit association, although he stated that there appears at times to be a lack of close co-operation between the directors and the committees.

Dr. Jessie Russell stated that one of the principal needs was a totally different type of open forum meetings, where open discussion by every citizen of Glendale would be encouraged and where the sentiment of the people could be taken on any matter that came up at such meetings. The public, declared Dr. Russell, must not be muzzled, but must be treated in a fair and unbiased way, if they are to support the Chamber of Commerce. The matter of publicity and advertising was taken up by Dr. Russell and several of the other speakers, as a means of letting the people in Glendale and outside of this city know just what the organization was accomplishing and also to present the advantages of Glendale to the outside world.

Councilman Sam Davis opened his talk with the statement that he has the hardest job, with the least pay, of any person in Glendale, and as good measure he also has a cold and the grippe.

"If twelve or fourteen of the town's leading business men cannot run the Chamber of Commerce without raising criticism, how can you expect five dubs to run the city?" he asked. Mr. Davis discussed the bus franchise question briefly, declaring that no favoritism would be shown by the City Council, nor would any permit be granted to any company that would thereafter turn over its interests to the Pacific Electric, and he went on record as stating that no franchise would be granted the Pacific Electric to extend its bus lines as long as he could prevent it.

Mayor Robinson urged that the members of the Chamber of Commerce be given some definite return for their membership fees and that they be accorded every chance to air any grievances they might be entertaining, for open discussions on any subject of interest to the city, and for open forums that would permit the airing of every shade of public opinion. The participation of the public in meetings of this kind, said H. S. McCormack, was a revivifying force in any community, and he advocated public meetings where the sentiment of the people could be taken on any matter affecting their interests.

It was decided to hold an open forum meeting within a short time when the question of transportation could be taken up and discussed from every angle, and when the persons present could have a chance to show just where they stand and what they want. The meeting, as planned last night, will be held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, but the vote on the transportation question will be accorded everyone present.

Bowling Team for Local Legion Formed

The Glendale American Legion bowling team was organized last night at Jensen's alleys in the Recreation Club, a wealth of talent showing up for places on the team.

The initial play-off brought out the following players: Commander Chalmer D. Day, A. G. Wheelon, Henry Prussing, E. L. Sullivan, Dr. G. Kaemmerling, Gordon Clayton, Chas. Gibbs, Frank Secrest, J. Crooker, C. M. Salano, R. G. McLean, H. Glazier, Merrill A. Lewis, McArthur, Newkirk, and Ferris. All these bowlers exhibited wonderful skill in the art of tumbling over the pins, and when the league opens April 2, Glendale will be ready to go.

Another practice game will be played next Wednesday night, April 4, and the first League game will come off on the alleys of Recreation club, Thursday night, April 5, Burbank being the opposing team.

Henry Prussing is captain of the Glendale team and, with his good material to choose from, will undoubtedly have the best team in the League of ten American Legion teams.

The women have manifested deep interest in this sport, there being a large number present last night.

Indian Philosopher To Address Art Assn.

The Glendale Art association will have as its lecturer Sunday afternoon in the public library, Kooverji L. Lillani, of Bombay, the great Far Eastern artist and philosopher, who has been in the United States nearly a year absorbing the atmosphere of the western world.

The lecture will be at 4 o'clock, but there will be an exhibit of Lillani's paintings and others, starting at 1 o'clock, in the juvenile room of the library.

Among these paintings is one particularly in keeping with the Easter spirit, entitled, "Our Lord," painted in India and appraised at $10,000 by critics. It represents Christ Jesus and Mary Magdalen, in a sublime pose.

Lillani is one of the most learned and gifted men who has ever come out of the Orient, that marvelous treasure-chest of love and beauty. He speaks eighteen different languages, is a disciple of Rabindranath Tagore, and is equally gifted in art, philosophy and literature.

Boys Uncover Stolen Safe in River Bed

One of the secrets of the Los Angeles river was disclosed yesterday afternoon when boys, playing under the Los Feliz bridge, located a small iron safe imbedded in the sand of the river bed. Unable to move it, they notified Officer Thomas McGuire of the local police department. As the "find" was outside of Glendale, the police department of Los Angeles was notified. An investigation followed.

The safe was stolen from W. L. Wilson of Santa Monica during February. It contained $200 in cash, $900 in liberty bonds and $500 worth of securities. After everything of value had been removed, the safe was shut again and thrown over the bridge.

The decorations were artistically carried out with bright spring flowers. Late in the afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

Surprise Honoree

A pleasant birthday surprise was carried out yesterday afternoon by a group of neighbors of Mrs. L. A. de Young of 720 North Isabel street. Mrs. de Young accompanied her husband on a trip to Los Angeles and when they arrived home early in the afternoon she found her home decorated with a profusion of spring flowers and a group of neighbor friends gathered to wish her a happy birthday.

Informal sociability was enjoyed and late in the afternoon a birthday luncheon was served, the feature being a large white birthday cake lighted with shining candles.

Mrs. W. R. Ream and Mrs. R. M. Nickell arranged the affair and they were joined by Mesdames W. F. Carroll, Schickler, H. E. Gray, G. L. Cutter, Knight, G. R. Seeley, Santa, Acker, R. S. Hall, W. A. Brown, O. B. Mills, H. H. Powers, A. E. Randall, G. O. Piercey, Clapp and S. G. Latta.

Meet On Friday

The Drama Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club will meet Friday afternoon, March 30, at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. H. C. Vandewater at 634 North Central avenue. Mrs. A. L. Bryant will be assisting hostess.

Brief biographies of famous actors and actresses will be given by various members of the section and a review of late Broadway successes by the curator, Mrs. R. E. Chase. Several plays will be reviewed, some of them being, "Rain," "Six Characters in Search of an Author," "Sin's Atonement" and several other late plays.

Plans will also be formulated and committees appointed for the three one-act plays which the section will present at the clubhouse auditorium on Friday and Saturday, April 27 and 28.

Easter Luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. David Black and daughter, Miss Esther Black of North Glendale, entertained Tuesday with a pre-Easter luncheon.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with roses, sweetpeas and spring flowers. The table appointments were carried out in a yellow and white color scheme.

Covers were laid for Mrs. H. D. Conkey and Mrs. Barrett of Chicago, Miss Frances Heslet of Earlville, Dr. Kate C. Moody of Los Angeles and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds of Glendale and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. David Black and daughter, Miss Esther Black.

All those present were former residents of Mendota, Ill.

Guest at Beach

Mrs. Harold Brewster of 119 North Kenwood street was special guest and reader one morning recently at the meeting of the drama section of the Long Beach Ebell club. She read "Lightning" by Frank Bacon. A press account in a Long Beach paper says of Mrs. Brewster, "She is a reader of much charm, has a fine dramatic voice that lends itself beautifully to character work. She caught the spirit of the play and stimulated the imagination of her audience as she interpreted the characters in her earnest, characteristic manner."

Informal Lunch

Mrs. J. R. Lockwood was the hostess at a very charming informal luncheon on Wednesday at her home, 827 South Glendale avenue, for the benefit of the Mothers' club of the Acacia Street school. A pretty pink and white color scheme was carried out in the table appointments.

Mrs. Lockwood's guests were Mesdames Harry Levey, Baughman, Henry Braun, E. B. Sutton, Frank Lenoir, Richards and Misses Barbara Braun and Dorothy Levey of Glendale; and Mrs. E. C. Croughn of Los Angeles.

Dinner Hostess

Mrs. Volney Philp of 221 North Orange street entertained with a dinner party last Tuesday evening in honor of the wedding anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Philp and Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Philp, sons and daughters-in-law of Mrs. Philp.

Other guests present were Miss Annie Philp of Elgin, Ill., and Miss Alice Pooley of Aurora, Ill.

Miss Dorothy Rowley entertained the members of the Gloom Chasers club at their bi-monthly card party and social last night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Rowley of 334 West Vine street.

EASTER NOTE IS SHOWN BY LILIES

Gritton Flower Shop Shows Wealth of Brilliant Spring Blossoms

There is nothing that so perfectly expresses the spirit of Easter as do flowers, and so it is most fitting that this pre-Easter week should be featured in business circles by the opening of an attractive flower shop in the Palace Grand shops on North Brand boulevard. The new business is being established by the Palace Grand shops and is to be under the direction of Mrs. Don Gritton.

Formal opening was held today and visitors were charmed by the wealth of brilliant spring flowers and large assortment of potted plants and greenery.

Of course the feature flower at the little shop today was the Easter lily. Potted lily plants with wonderful blooms are on sale in quantities and will bring an Easter greeting to many Glendalians.

There was also a profusion of choice roses, sweet peas, tulips and other spring flowers.

Mrs. Gritton, who had wide experience in the floral business in Nevada has had the shop equipped to handle all kinds of cut flowers, greenery, potted plants, the making of floral pieces and the decoration of homes or halls for social affairs.

will have as officers well known, high class business men of means in Glendale. We have already had the acceptance of nine men, well known citizens of Glendale, to act as directors of the Glendale Motor Bus Company. These men will accept and serve as directors when the company is incorporated. (Incorporation is now under process.) Therefore, citizens of Glendale will be protected and treated fairly.

Entitled to Chance

The writer has been spending freely and lavishly, money, time and efforts, to give Glendale a transportation system that will compete with the Pacific Electric and furnish Glendale with a safeguard because of that competition, which will always regulate the fares and service both locally and between the city of Los Angeles and Glendale, and he believes he is entitled to an opportunity to demonstrate that he can and will furnish this service.

If the citizens of Glendale will not give their moral support, without quibbling, it is no more than right, and more than likely that the above named wealthy men, who are behind this company will refuse to put any money into any service in Glendale, which would be only a good business move on their part. On the other hand, if the citizens of Glendale will unanimously back us morally, these men will then be encouraged in going ahead with their present plans.

Citizens of Glendale, please be fair and do not try, convict and hang either the Pacific Motor Bus Company or the writer, C. D. Gulick, without hearing.

Respectfully,
C. D. GULICK.

DR. FRANK DYER AT NOON SERVICE

Gives Pre-Easter Message To Those Meeting Yesterday in Theatre

Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem and the acclamation of the people, "Hosannah, blessed is he that cometh in the name of Jehovah!" was the inspiration for the pre-Easter message given at the noon service yesterday in the Glendale theatre by Dr. Frank Dyer of the Wilshire Congregational church of Los Angeles.

Paul Carson's organ prelude was specially complimented yesterday. Mr. Carson has given a prelude at each service and the reverent atmosphere his music has created has been one of the impressive parts of the services.

Following the prelude yesterday Mrs. W. Q. Widdows sang "Lead, Kindly Light," by Newman and arranged by J. L. Parks. The prayer was given by Rev. C. M Calderwood, who also introduced the speaker of the day.

Need for Tributes

Dr. Dyer's message was in part: "When Jesus came into Jerusalem he needed certain things. The strewing of the roadway with garments and with palm branches showed his need for the physical and material tributes of his people; the request for the colt upon which he rode was a symbol of the humble spirit of his triumph; the acclaim of the people was an offering without which he would have been unable to make his coming an event worthy of the importance it was to the thrice Holy City.

"God cannot make his triumphal entry into Glendale without the outpouring of the hearts of the people. While we cannot make satisfactory explanation of God's miraculous revelation and manifestation in Jesus Christ, we can humbly bow in reverence and take recognition of it."

The final service will be the Good Friday meeting tomorrow noon, when Dr. Hugh K. Walker of the First Presbyterian church of Los Angeles will speak.

Plan Regular Service In New Jewish Temple

Temple B'Nai Brith, the new house of worship for the Jewish congregation of Pasadena and surrounding districts, officially opened Sunday, March 25, will hold regular services starting on Friday night, March 30, at 7:30 o'clock.

Dr. Emanuel Schreiber, selected by the board of trustees as the rabbi of the new temple, is one of the most learned scholars and the most accomplished writers on Judaism in the world, a Talmudist of the old school and the author of seventeen books on Jewish ritualism that are found in almost every library carrying such volumes.

At 10 o'clock Sunday morning, the first meeting of the proposed Sunday school will be held, to which all children of the district are invited.

BRANCH LIBRARY PROVES POPULAR

Applicants Eager to Read Volumes Included in Latest Addition

The opening day of the new northwest branch of the Glendale Public Library was gratifyingly successful, reports Miss Kate Frost, in charge of that branch, sixty-one applications for books being received.

Almost as gratifying as the number of applications, she states, was the fact that half the volumes taken out were non-fiction, indicating that this branch is being made serious use of by the people of the district, right from the start.

Mrs. Alma Danford, city librarian expressed her satisfaction over this report of the first day's business of the new branch, stating that, if patronage justifies, it will presently open its doors in the mornings as well as afternoons and evenings.

The present hours when the library may be used are from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock at night.

Mrs. Danford spoke of her admiration for the way the people of the northwest section went after that library, sticking to the job until they got it. She was particularly gratified with the attendance at Monday night's presentation services at the Grand View school, which showed clearly —she feels—that the district looks on its new institution as a distinct boon.

Mrs. C. Ellsperman, chairman of the serving committee, and her associates Mesdames Lucas, Rummell, Botsford, Mair, Evens, Hollenbeck and Thompson, all agree that the 300 or more who attended seemed to thoroughly enjoy the ice cream and delicious home made cake and punch so liberally provided.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Finney and Mrs. Ferber, of the reception committee, claim with just cause that the mental fare provided was equal at any rate to that provided for the inner man, the program they provided meeting the difficult test of applause at every turn.

The beautiful flower known as a "parrot's bill," which caused so much comment, was the gift of P. J. Wheldon for the occasion, it was brought out. This flower, which is very rare, is known in the higher botanical circles as the clythus.

CANDIDATES FOR COUNCIL SPEAK

Discuss Issues Involved in Municipal Campaign at Meeting Last Night

The Pacific Avenue Paving association met last night in one of the class rooms of the Pacific school and discussed issues involved in the approaching municipal election. Roscoe Belcher of 605 West Colorado street presided.

S. S. Gilhuly of 342 El Bonita avenue, candidate for the city council, made a short speech in which he favored a policy of encouraging factories to locate in Glendale. He expressed an opinion that the community needs payrolls. He admitted that the council should have consulted the public before purchasing the airport, but stated that it looked like a good investment. He denied that he would favor the establishment of a fertilizer plant upon the property.

Frank Booth of 111 South Kenwood street, former "coffee king," who is a candidate for the council, stated that he is a graduate of Oxford, England, and came to California twenty years ago, after assisting Baden-Powell in the Boer war. He said that he had not been in this country a week before he had taken out his first naturalization papers. He asserted that he has been a naturalized citizen for fifteen years.

Urges Rubbish Sale

Through the segregation and sale of rubbish Mr. Booth is of the opinion that the collection of garbage can be made self-supporting. He said that the sale of old string, papers and bottles, while he was in the business helped to pay his rent.

Allen O. Martin of 640 West Lexington drive, former chief of police and now candidate for the council, stated:

"If elected, I pledge myself to work in the interests of the citizenry and at no time to forget that I am employed by them. I will work honestly and for their best interests. I am not a politician. I don't know anything about politics and I don't want to."

Mr. Martin criticized the efficiency of the police department, and expressed an opinion that the recall of City Manager W. H. Reeves would be a good thing for Glendale.

Don H. Webb, also a candidate for the City Council, was present during a part of the meeting and outlined his platform.

None of the other candidates for city council were in attendance.
